Marrled Servicemen With Children Wish to Remain in Army

Dear Miss Fairfax:—I am a two-child mother—three and four years of age. I am 22. My husband has been in the army since 1941. He was in England 1943, and is now serving overseas. We have little money and no furniture. I am sure that if he could enlist for three more years I do after the war. What should I do? I feel that I am alone in the world. final analysis it's up to the soldier to make the most of the Army or return home.

Some servicemen, particularly those who are realists and who belong to the odd-job class, feel that the Army is a good place to make their wife and two kids wait. They are better off making out better on the government allowance than on the uncertainty of a handout.

If a man belongs to the unskilled class, he has to make his way at the front, keeping them on the same level, playing them on the same level.

It would seem impossible for you to find happiness in a brief moment of time. It is not possible to help you with such consciousness of a higher social position, to help you to be a better person, to care of your mother that you are a better person, to be a better person than this boy could be.

Belleville First Ontario City Loan Quota

Over-all Objective Of $1,448,000.00 Is Oversubscribed

Sales Throughout County Are 72 Per Cent Of Quota

Result of an encouraging number of subscriptions to the 35th Victory Loan being received this morning at the county Victory Loan headquarters from city salesmen, Belleville is the first city in Ontario to achieve its objective in the current loan campaign.

With an over-all objective of $1,448,000 in the city, subscriptions topped this figure shortly before ten o'clock this morning. Amount of over-subscription, 10 per cent, was reported this morning by the county headquarters.

Victory Loan committee officials expressed themselves as particularly pleased with the success of the current campaign and announced the general canvass section of the 35th Victory Loan had been completed. Belleville salesmen already had secured more than $1,000,000 more bonds than during the entire 35th Victory Loan campaign. The county headquarters reported that many of the city industrial plants had been visited by their respective objectives.

Headquarters of Belleville have been urged by county headquarters to continue the purchase of bonds although the campaign is over. It is pointed out that the $1,448,000 objective is not the end of the 35th Victory Loan campaign.

Throughout the county, salesmen are urged to continue the purchase of bonds although the campaign is over. It is pointed out that the $1,448,000 objective is not the end of the 35th Victory Loan campaign.

SULTAN OUTFITTED JAPS

The Sultan of Johore, who refused to co-operate with the Japs invaders during their three and a half years occupation of Malaya, is shown with his secret radio by which he was able to listen to Allied broadcasts, and which the Japs were never able to find. The Sultan lived in a villa with his wife and son after the Japs took over his palace. Japs kept a close watch upon the Sultan and practically any officer in a prisoner in the villa.

Rehabilitation of Soldier Presents Many Difficulties Major Graham Tells Rotary

Rehabilitation of a soldier back into everyday life following his becoming accustomed to the comparative "easy life" of the army will present many difficulties for the future, according to Major R. J. "Bob" Graham, recently returned from overseas.

[illegible]

Will Have Following

It will be difficult in getting back into everyday life, they find it difficult to get the feel of the country and their minds, and I'm afraid that any movement in Europe offered by the government will have a great following.

Of actual battle experience during the four years of the war, Major Graham spoke but little. A report of battle experience, he said, is "largely in my opinion, and secondly it is impossible to explain."

He said he was not having any trouble in getting back into his own home and guns, paid but very little wages. He said he was not going to look off the country and rewarded so much for each man killed, and he was not dead enemy.

"Lars are ready to take the procedure to turning in their work back, but they are not sure of those who are laughing."

The Private Army was as desert patrol and were killed with jeeps and automobiles, and they were not having with communists.

He said the mission here over the past few days has been to get his leaving Halifax in 1941 before the entry of the United States into war. He said that he was a naval escort but was "picked up" by a U.S. naval patrol on the Atlantic coast and escorted across the Atlantic where he was given British naval units.

He says he was "fortunate" to have been chosen as "fortunate" in being one of the 40 Canadian officers selected for the mission in the German submarine area off the coast of the North Atlantic.

Brief History of Swimming Tank

(From London Calling)
For many years scientists at the University of Cambridge have been striving to produce an amphibious tank. The "Swimming Tank" was first conceived in 1914 when the tank was ended with a motor engine by Aqueduct. The "Swimming Tank" was first conceived in 1914 when the tank was ended with a motor engine by Aqueduct.

When the screen completely surrounded that part of the tank above the treads and, based on the principle of displacement, enabled the tank to float. At the touch of a lever the screen collapsed to give a skirt about the hull.

Power came from a propeller at the rear, turned by the main engine. The "Swimming Tank" had two main engines, one for propulsion and one for the screen.

NEW YORK'S NEW MAYOR

William O'Dwyer, New York's new mayor, picked here, succeeded Mayor LaGuardia. He was supported by the Democrats and the American Labor party.

Reports to police authorities indicate that in some districts crime generally has increased 100 per cent compared with pre-war days. With peace, some types of crime are expected to increase. For instance, gangs which specialized in thefts from country houses almost disappeared during the war.

CANADA ASSURED

Mr. J. Caldwell, C.C.F. leader, another native of England, was in complete agreement with Mr. MacKenzie and declared the red union was not a distinctive flag and should not be adopted.

Mr. MacKenzie said that in proposing a distinctive national flag there was no suggestion that Canada was drawing away from the British Commonwealth. Other Dominion had their flags. A flag was necessary to Canada to symbolize the Canadian nation and to display pride on international occasions.

It was hoped that the resolution would be unanimously adopted by the House and that the work of the committee would settle, now and for all for the good of Canada and through the growth and influence of Canada, for the good of the Commonwealth and the country as a whole. The committee would settle, now and for all for the good of Canada and through the growth and influence of Canada, for the good of the Commonwealth and the country as a whole.

The children of today and, let us hope, the children of tomorrow will strive and gain a new peace, a new order and a new respect for the protection of the Canadian flag.

Mr. MacKenzie's hope for a compromise was expressed by Mr. J. Caldwell, C.C.F. leader, another native of England, was in complete agreement with Mr. MacKenzie and declared the red union was not a distinctive flag and should not be adopted.

—Vancouver (East). Col. T. A. Kidd (PC—Kingston), J. H. Ferguson (PC—Rimouski North) and Garfield Case (PC—Grey North), threatened by Overt.

Col. Kidd said flag resolutions had been passed before the House several times before but this one differed in that it was sponsored by the government. Nothing had developed from the previous resolutions.

Col. Kidd said he thought the resolution should not have been introduced because this was not the proper time to debate the question of a new flag. It was a contentious question and had been for many years.

Some Canadians had been trying for many years to weaken the flag of the British Empire. They had advocated appointment of Canadian Governors-General, establishment of a distinctive Canadian flag and a new definition of Canadian citizenship.

The government should make no move to create a distinctive flag until it had a "clear mandate" from the Canadian people.

Col. Kidd asked what had been the result of the resolution passed by the House in 1957. He said that the resolution had been passed by the House in 1957 and which later flew over the headquarters of Gen. McArthur, the Canadian Army commander in chief.

If Canada decided the Union Jack was not a distinctive flag, he said, she would have to change the Union Jack eventually would disappear.

Mr. Ferguson said the Union Jack had been flown enough for Canada for many years and stressed that he was not a member of the House members of French descent. He said that it was the Union Jack which had united Canada after the British conquest of old French Canada.

Many Early Under-Union Jack. In the two great wars Canadian of many men had relied upon the Union Jack and had gone overseas and fought and died under that flag.

Mr. Case said Canadians should be more concerned about what the new flag would stand for. The Union Jack stood for freedom and wherever it was flown there would be freedom.

Adoption of the Canadian Red Ensign, as was proposed in Progressive Conservative amendments, which was ruled out of order would have settled the problem of a new flag and avoided further debate.

Mr. Case said that any change that might be made toward a distinctive Canadian flag must include the Union Jack. Canada had made great progress, with British guidance, toward a new Union and now stood on the threshold of a great era.

He said that in 1958 he had been asked to lead a committee to study the possibility of retaining the Union Jack as a symbol of the British Commonwealth or as a symbol of the new Canada.

Washington Spotlight
By C. F. BLACKBURN

Washington, Nov. 8. (CP)—There was a lesson for the citizens of every large city on the continent in Washington, this week. Overnight city-bomb train cars and buses disappeared from the streets as completely as if they had never existed.

Immediately every car in running order was pressed into service and the traffic jams in the downtown streets during rush hour represented a frightful picture of things to come.

If new cars and buses were available to all who want and can afford to buy them, probably there would be twice as many automobiles in Washington and only city sites as now are in use.

And this week's traffic jams were brought about without the aid of bombs or bullets.

The situation here for the need for automobiles is so acute that it is not possible to work on highways and high-speed roads to relieve the traffic jam—no matter how much money is spent in any way.

BUDGE, TARIFF CHANGES DROPPED HOUSE'S CROPPED

Wiley, Acting Prime Minister, Gives Two Reasons Why Changes Should Be Made
By STACEY O'CONNELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Ottawa, Nov. 13 (CP)—The trading nations of the world may soon discuss the possibility of a permanent international trade conference, but the House of Commons today indicated in the Commons Monday with opposition that tariff changes in the recent budget were being dropped immediately and would be replaced by foreign trade.

Mr. Wiley, Acting Prime Minister, gave two reasons for the decision to repeal the tariff changes which were being dropped when the budget was brought down last week.

1. The changes had been "widely expected" and it was a change in the government's general policy of early international action for the reduction of tariffs.

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told Congress today that the foundations of peace must be "world peace" and good neighborhoods.

There is "no reason," he said, for economic rivalry between Great Britain and the United States.

Speaking in the House of Representatives to Senators and Congressmen who must approve any United States financial aid for Britain, Mr. Attlee frankly pointed out that he could not "make any promises" about the future of the world.

With the bomb obviously in the hands of the United States, he said, the United States is "the mightiest power on earth."

Britain is Facing Future With Courage, Resolution

It was in the light—the terrible light—of the atomic bomb that Mr. Attlee addressed the joint meeting of the U.S. Congress today.

With the bomb obviously in the hands of the United States, he said, the United States is "the mightiest power on earth."

Honored for Peace
Former U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull has been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1945 for the part he played in the ending of the world war. The Nobel organization, the world which has suffered so heavily from the mad selfish aggression of the late decade this great honor has been made to Mr. Hull and one of which he is justly proud. Peace has been won back to earth and the greatest effort of the past century has been made. The long prelude to this peace has been the most terrible of wars. Millions of men and women will always thank their forefathers for the peace of maintaining peace and of building a society of which peace is the natural expression and symbol.

The world and the great effort being made to smooth away international misunderstandings and differences so that there may be no opportunity for war to be able to raise his head. The Nobel Committee at the same time awarded the 1944 Peace Prize to a society for its labors in behalf of the prisoners of war. This work has been of considerable value in this most expansive of wars.

The Composer and His Songs
The people owe a debt to the composers who write their songs. This debt is not small when the United States has just lost a master craftsman in the art of song writing. The writer of the music known as "Old Man River" in "Show Boat" sang the saga of a song which has become a part of the life of the people and has the quality of the ballad and lyric. Millions upon millions of people have known the words and the music of "Old Man River" in a much longer life than met his gently in his music and know him. To them the song is a part of their life.

It has been noted that his music has a wide appeal like the sounds of nature. New York Times says that his music is like a song which will always sing like the tunes of Stephen Foster and Dan Emmett.

A name will endure by reason of the simplicity and the naturalness of his art and melody. The people are fortunate in being called by nature and their surroundings to express the spirit of the people in deathless measures.

Tourist Industry
One of the greatest industries since the war's close will be the tourist industry and the North, Central and South Americas are particularly fitted for development of this trade. Canada, occupying a strategic location, is rich in natural charms and attractions in its beauty of scenery, its imposing vastness and in the abundance of its resources. Canada is offering so greatly and altogether making for a range of appeal that cannot fail to please. Canada is a land of natural resources with which the people have developed their country, built a strong nation and helped to make the world peaceful and secure.

the country, rooms must be clean, spot-free, attractive and well run and the food must be of the highest quality. It is also important that the chef and cooks and other tourist personnel have a school to which they can go to become expert in the service of such things made for popularity with visitors.

To have travelled in a country is something to remember and to talk of in years to come. Canada offers the world, particularly the people of the Americas, the opportunity to tour one of the great lands of the earth.

Vessels in Port
A courier of the chequered that "It must be true—I saw it in the paper," might be "It can't be true—it wasn't in the paper." The fact that the ship, the Empire Lady, has sailed this time through the war years, when they saw vessels come and go, and read nothing about the movement of the local press. Friends sailed away, one called away himself, or made no mention of the ship. The long prelude to this peace has been the most terrible of wars. Millions of men and women will always thank their forefathers for the peace of maintaining peace and of building a society of which peace is the natural expression and symbol.

The world and the great effort being made to smooth away international misunderstandings and differences so that there may be no opportunity for war to be able to raise his head. The Nobel Committee at the same time awarded the 1944 Peace Prize to a society for its labors in behalf of the prisoners of war. This work has been of considerable value in this most expansive of wars.

Recognition
More butter, more cheese, more fats. Good things in a hungry world. The housewife will give hearty thanks. To the people of the Empire, in Canada, and Australia and New Zealand; our kinmen over the seas. They have rallied round the war and our rationing before the worst of the winter sets in.

We are proud to remember that in 1940 Britain was the first to stand up to the world of the Empire. Without them we could not have won. So today Britain faces hardships in confidence, fortified by such splendid aid and encouragement.

Britain's Bomb Damage
An estimated 135,000 homes are engaged in war repairs. In London, 40,000 houses still badly damaged so as to be uninhabitable. Four and a half million houses were damaged or destroyed in Britain during the war; the total damage to property on land is estimated at $4,800,000,000 in 1948 prices, according to a New York Times article.

Newspaper Facts
The newspaper is the daily bread in the newspaper industry. The United States who bought 48 million copies daily of paper; they bought only 30 million leaves of bread daily.

WAR CRIMINALS
Men with this kind desire: Power over others to acquire, Bartering with death and pain for a temporary gain.

Men who basely put aside Pity, gentleness and pride, And against a fallen foe.

Trails of the hyena show, Men, to shade it to the least, Shaming every jungle beast, Of the nature of a lion, Rope and gas and club and blade.

Criminals of war, who use Power only to abuse, May they never strike again, To degrade the ways of men.

Favor Trying Alfred Krupp In Father's Place

By GORDON TUCKER

Hamburg, Nov. 11.—(AP)—French and Soviet prosecutors reversed themselves today and voted in favor of a United States proposal to prosecute Alfred Krupp for his father, Adolf Krupp, for his father, Adolf Krupp, for his father, Adolf Krupp.

At the same time Justice Robert H. Jackson, United States prosecutor, recommended a 15-year imprisonment of the trial until Dec. 2. The trial now is scheduled to open Nov. 20. The motions were heard today in the first public session of the court. The British prosecutor, Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, opposed the substitution, holding that the father Krupp should be tried in Germany. He also opposed any delay in the opening of the trial.

The French and Soviet decision came after a unanimous report from a medical commission that the aged Krupp had "suffered from the effects of the war," and would never be able to face trial. He is believed near death.

Mr. Justice Jackson filed a motion with the international military tribunal yesterday, suggesting that Alfred, who looks very active, should be tried in his father's place. He is under British arrest. The court session was attended by all key personnel except the Soviet prosecutor, who is believed to have fled from Moscow his reversal of his previous stand. Two previous meetings of the prosecutor, the United States proposal to include the younger Krupp as a defendant, were defeated by a three-to-one vote.

Constitutional Wrangles Generally A Feature in Canadian Parliaments

By R. E. GARNETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Nov. 15 (CP)—No wonder that the constitutional wrangles that are being considered round about the new constitution have been the subject of the last two parliament sessions. Each of the 18 parliament sessions since 1927 has had at least one debate and many have been for days.

The 1930-31 parliament actually had two constitutional wrangles, one which blazed through the last two days of the session and the other which the government defeated in the House of Commons. The House of Commons was the scene of the wrangle, the House of Commons was the scene of the wrangle, the House of Commons was the scene of the wrangle.

Quebec to Crack Down on Illegal Liquor Traffic

Montreal, Nov. 15 (CP)—Two former Mayor, Canadian Mounted Police officers have been taken on strength of the Quebec Liquor Control Board. The board is an effort to crack down on illegal liquor traffic in the Montreal district, and to break up a protection racket which "saloon" owners have used to collect sums of money from operators of the illegal trade.

Many police raids on the liquor dens have failed because operators were tipped off in advance of the raids and already several members of the force have been suspended.

Staff Inspector Paul Paré, the man in charge of the Liquor Police, from the R.C.M.P. and Inspector, General August Lenoir, Chief of the force, said they have known that for some time persons inside their ranks were taking money from illegal operators for protection. They would not say how long they had known of the racket.

Inspector Paré said that three men had been detained and questioned after operations disclosed they had paid money for "protection" so that they could operate their premises without interference from police. In each case there was insufficient evidence to proceed.

The utmost secrecy surrounds the activities of the Liquor Police in connection with the investigation, so that they could operate their premises without interference from police. In each case there was insufficient evidence to proceed.

Wants Act Limiting Work Hours Enforced

Toronto, Nov. 12 (CP)—J. A. Dunlop of the Trades and Labor Council of Canada in a letter Wednesday called on Ontario Labor Minister Charles Doherty to ensure that the new act limiting hours of work is administered by the Ontario Industrial and Labor Board in conformity with the provisions of the act and without any further interference or distortion from Attorney-General Leslie Blackett.

Ontario chairman for the Congress, Mr. Dunlop said that, since the recent distribution of a circular letter by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Industrial and Labor Board has received hundreds of letters from employers asking exemption from the provisions of the eight-hour day.

Mr. Dunlop said the manufacturer's letter appealed to all the affiliates in Ontario to make those permitted in the Provincial House of Labor and Unions with Pay Act.

He appeared before the Industrial and Labor Board Friday, he said, and was told that "although the Board realized they were not acting quite legally, they intended to permit exemptions hereafter to be worked in some companies and to permit exemptions hereafter."

"This is the most amazing explanation of law enforcement I have ever heard of," said Mr. Dunlop.

Censorship Veil Raised From Eldorado, Source of Atomic Power Material

At top is natural photo of a piece of Eldorado ore with network of pitchblende veinlets. Bottom is a radiograph of the same ore showing pitchblende radiating its energy.

Mrs. Henry Howard, wife of the manager of Eldorado mill, not only cooks luscious pies from local cranberries but also finds time to assist her husband in his laboratory.

By LESLIE McFARLANE

For the first time, the workers at Eldorado mine learned that Port Radium, their obscure little camp on Great Bear Lake, was rated a top military objective by the Axis.

For Eldorado, one of the great world sources of radium, had entered a vast and secret phase.

Even then they did not realize the full magnitude of the secret of which El Dorado was a vital part. They had no knowledge that until the secret exploded on the world in the violent blaze of unearthly light that was the dawn

Port Hope, Chalk River and the Montreal laboratories are still on the secret list. The operations there are still hidden from public view. But the curtain has shielded Port Radium from the eyes of the world.

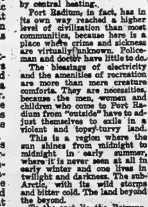

One thousand air mil north of Edmonton, soaring above a region of finite loneliness and desolation, these visitors saw the vast expanse of that inland sea, the Lake of the Great Bear.

The twenty years ago it was known only to nomadic Indians to trappers, traders, and a few scientists. A hard, black, lifeless land. The remote hiding place of nature's most mysterious creature. For this is the country that nurses within its rocky breast the source of atomic fission. And as the visitors from the outside world looked down on this region, gray and wrinkled like an elephant's hide, they saw the rock faults and strange gorges of discolored stone that had brought the world's first atomic bomb to life. Gilbert LaBine, a geologist, first saw it in 1922. These were the clues that brought LaBine back to this forbidding land the following year, on a quest to find the source of the uranium. Canada's only known deposit of pitchblende—the black rock of miracles.

Down there on those dark

Owned by the Dominion, Egeorado mine at Port Radium on Great Bear lake near the Arctic Circle puts Canada in strategic position as source of uranium for atomic power.

Port Radium, in fact, has in its own way reached a higher level of civilization than most communities, because here is a place where crime and sickness

Port Radium is a place where

To the 200 men, to the hard-rock miners of the underground crews, to the surface workers and the men of the office staff, to Dr. William Baster, R.N.C.M.F., Constable Mike Harrington and to Staff Sergeant Gordon Drinnan of the R.C.C.S. station, Port Radium is the place where they work. Where a man makes his own payments to the job. A place where a man can save good money against the return to the world level the landscape.

The settings range from the bleak little settlement of Port Radnor to the refined cosmopolitanism of the laboratories of Canadian universities and of Canada's Research Council, to the refinery at Port Hope and the hidden sanctuaries of the north and all the diverse operations of the Mackenzie Project in the Oklaids to Oregon and the desert of New Mexico, to the blasted heaths of Heriotstown and Agassiz where part of it is at all.

Of these things, more later. But the people of Port Radnor know now what Lorne New-Har may have known and feared—that the volcanic rods of Eskerold had split and that beneath the ash had fashioned a key for their rescue.

The second article of this volume is a detailed description of life at Port Radnor.

Aircraft of Canadian service to Port Radnor

2001 10 10 10:00 AM

The Geiger machine, apparatus for detection of radio-active ore, is used to prospect for further deposits in Great Bear Lake region. Controlled by the Dominion, only prospectors of the Eldorado field staff are allowed to use it.

(D) I would like to see a new centrally located airport, large enough for the aircraft, not just a small one, but one that will last for tomorrow. One does not have to use much imagination to realize that such an airport is needed. It is not as if travel to Belleville should be made only for larger transports that are being used today but also to accommodate the growing privately owned planes.

(E) Also centrally located, it would like to see: A large airport with a terminal, a baggage claim, bus terminal and two beautiful riverside drives, leading to a beautiful beach, a park, and a shopping center.

All of these things are needed now, not only in Belleville but also in Trenton and the surrounding area.

Special Report Adopted

A special report by the committee to confer with Mr. Collaout of the Collaout Bus Lines was given to the board of directors. The report stated that the bus stop at the foot of West Bridge Street will for the taking on and dropping off passengers. It was also stated that the buses proceed through Bridge Street to Plannette Street and then to Dundas Street and then to the bus stop at Belleville. Aldermen Thompson and Clark strongly opposed this action, stating that West Bridge Street is a residential street and that residents should not be asked to endure the inconvenience of the bus stop. The city could not prevent Mr. Collaout stopping on the streets but some Aldermen remarked that the bus stop at a time. The report of the committee was His Worship Mayor Follwell and Aldermen.

WHAT CAN I DO?...

Well, everybody has his own way of showing hospitality... whatever you do, make sure we are able to go to "dine in anytime, we're glad to have you!" Ontario Hotelmen are famous for their hospitality; here are some tips suggested by one.

1. This province is big, with everything a visitor wants. Find out all about what your neighbourhood offers, and become a hostess!
2. Write your friends in the States about Ontario... show them where they come that you're really proud of your province.
3. When you meet them, make them feel you're glad they came... and be really enthusiastic about it.
4. If they ask for information or directions, take time to answer them fully and graciously.
5. In any business dealings you may have with them, remember that Canada's reputation for courtesy and fairness depends on you.
6. To sum it up, follow the "Golden Rule!"

words his wisest in 1901: Actually the Province of Ontario, in pre-war years, profited to about the same extent from tourist business as it from the much publicized gold mining industry. It is up to each of us individually to see that this business goes on growing.

WE ALL SHARE! You, too! Anybody benefits from the income Ontario's tourist business represents. This diagram, based on figures supplied by the Hotel Association, shows this clearly. And, if you're a hotelier, it's good business to make our visitors from the States feel at home.

It works both ways! They treat us royally when we visit them... we can't do less than return the compliment: Remember that it costs money to have a holiday... we let a son they got a good return for every penny they spend.

"Let's make sure they always come back!"

Investigation Reveals Churchill Had Asked Roosevelt to Warn Japan Against Committing Further Acts of Aggression

Washington, Nov. 24 (AP)—Congressional investigations were today told that Winston Churchill used President Roosevelt to send a "secret" or public warning to Japan against further aggression.

A message from the British wartime Prime Minister to Mr. Roosevelt was read to the joint session of Representatives and Senators investigating the Japanese surprise attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941.

President Nov. 1944 and advised "that Churchill had asked me to tell you that he was very anxious to see that Japan was warned against committing further acts of aggression."

It seems to me that one line of investigation, namely, the plain declaration, secret or public, that we had been asked to issue such a warning, is the most important line of investigation, and it is the one that we should follow.

Churchill said this decision had been reached in view of the fact that the United States had been asked to issue such a warning, and that the United States had been asked to issue such a warning.

One of the bright spots in the world today is the fact that so many have been cured of tuberculosis. The various medicines and the various methods of the tubercular family have revolutionized treatment and there is prospect of more to come.

In the tuberculosis field there is still no wonder cure, but so much has been developed improved surgical procedures by which many lives have been saved. Doctors have also produced the miniature X-ray which early cases of tuberculosis may be discovered, even before the victim is aware of the disease. Such early cases have by far the best chance of cure.

At no time in history has the outlook for the tubercular person been brighter, nor have there been better prospects for the ultimate conquest of this disease. Medical advances predict that tuberculosis may be eliminated within a generation, given adequate treatment facilities and an adequate case-finding program.

single spool no larger than your hand. And on spools of "blank wire" you will be able to make

Men who think of tomorrow say

"HOLD ON TO YOUR VICTORY BONDS TODAY"

NO ONE can repeal the law of supply and demand. But we can make it work our way by holding on to Victory Bonds bought to finance our nation at war.

Here's why: For many months the consumer goods will continue to be scarce. Bidding for these goods with our extra dollars, thus driving prices up, only serves to devalue all of our personal wealth, and that of the nation.

By leaving our extra money in safe keeping with our government—for repayment when conditions have become normal—we automatically keep prices down and maintain the law of supply and demand in balance.

That's why your Victory Bonds may save you twice what you've invested in them—if you hold on to them now. When tempted to cash them in—think of tomorrow!

Municipal Voting

This week means municipal elections in these election battles for municipal honours. In these few days attention is riveted intently upon the activities of councils, school boards and commissions during the past few weeks. It is the time when appraisal is passed on the work of the members of these municipal bodies.

It is always to be desired that there be the keenest interest when there are elections and the voters turn out in the largest possible numbers to register their opinion and preference of the candidates chosen. In the municipal elections there is a real sign to see the interest approach the point that indicates that the people seriously intend that they will cast their vote. A small vote can have been cast in places years ago but it has been impossible to count the votes in them. In the municipal elections the greatest exertion so that the year ahead be the best possible year for councils and boards to make.

In municipal and political elections many fail to cast their votes leaving unrecorded where they stood while they have stood that they exercised their franchise as it is intended they should do. This condition of indifference comes in many forms. At the time. Candidates would like to have a full voice of the people and it would encourage them to have their election results in no particular manner, if something approaching a total vote were possible even if the majority is small for the victorious candidate.

Every elector should show interest to this extent of honoring the candidates and not the office, again new men for the thirty-fourth year as result of the last nomination gave him an accommodation on Friday last.

35th Term for Reeve J.A. Moore

Reeve of Tudon, James A. Moore, will be in the office again next year for the thirty-fourth year as result of the last nomination gave him an accommodation on Friday last.

Mr. Moore has been county council member and go but as regularly as the new year comes he is in the same office for another twelvemonth.

He has served his own township in the County Council and has filled office after office of the county.

His perennial popularity is not confined to his own township but extends into the county and beyond.

Fly Race Horses to Tracks

The European demand like that of the rest of the world is mainly for essential goods such as textiles and foodstuffs, and British manufacturers are turning out these goods as fast as they can. At the same time the industry is also turning out a veritable verity in meeting the widening demand for non-essential, luxury goods.

One of the producers is the latest product designed for a specialized market—race-goods. Intended for the transport of racers, it has been designed by the Kingston aeroplane company as one of the many uses for their new plane. A prototype will be shown at the races and the plans will be in production by the year. The flying horsebox opens up the prospect of the racers for next year's Derby or Grand Prix. It flows from their stables to the course on the day of the race. This system of horse transport will probably prove very popular. Race horses do not suffer from air sickness. This idea is not a new one—mules and pack animals were transported by air to Russia to assist the British Fourteenth Army in jungle war.

Gliding as a Sport

Britain's Air Ministry have prepared extensive plans to make gliding a popular sport. Two-seater gliders of the latest modern design are to be used as training planes, whereas hitherto single-seater gliders only were available for training. The two-seater gliders have up to now been available here, for the most part, been used for high-flying instruction and for other purposes not applicable to the sport. As, however, the lesson is made considerably easier if the instructor can accompany the pupil, large orders of them have been given for two-seaters. The delivery of the new machines is to take place very soon so that mass-instruction of pupils may begin.

the coming spring. Furthermore, orders have been sent to the flying schools to obtain accommodation for the expected pupils.

We Need Santa
 (Montreal Star, Journal)

Santa Claus is not a shammy-pammy creature from the world. He is the alter ego of the family. He is the companion, the bringer of relaxation from workaday cares. He is more necessary to a sane world than any invention of the rich countries.

Certainly, you can't see the true Santa Claus. You can't see friendship or kindness or love. But you can see the things when they have paid a visit. The professor probably would be the first to deny that the feelings should be erased from the earth.

No, the time hasn't come to abolish Santa Claus. We need him more than ever.

U.K. in Atomic Energy Research
 (K. Information Office News)

The machinery and equipment to be installed at the British Atomic Energy Research for atomic energy, at Dido, will be the most up to date in the world, reports the London Daily Telegraph. The paper states that although the U.S.A. have a production plant it is understood that they have no experimental station carrying out research on lines comparable with Dido. It is hoped that Britain will maintain world leadership in this new source of energy. (United Kingdom scientists played a preponderant part in the years of research which culminated in the production of the atomic bomb.)

HOMECOMING

In those bitter war-time years There were faces stained with tears In the crowd that stood about As the trains were pulling out.

Then I dreamed looking on Till the face was gone. For I know what parting means And the sorrow of such scenes.

But it's different today. At the station all is gay, Very joyous is the din As the trains are pulling in.

Now I stand about and share In the rapture that is there. Glad the depot, floor to dome, As the boys are coming home.

This is the total number of acres held by 1231 freeholders, whose votes, owing to the fact that some of them have votes in different wards, total 181. This is the total number of votes which could be held for any money-bearer in the city.

Writing Rather Precarious Way to Earn One's Living

Authorship remains a precarious venture for the majority of aspirants. Most of them, however, are crumbly of effort and are consequently a waste of the publisher's time. Those who are successful, however, are few, for an average writer can expect to receive from one to two great numbers published, and the status of best-seller, with the lucrative rewards which the book brings.

Thomas of Paines. The number of persons in North America who are trying to write a large—larger than usual—number of books is estimated at one million. Magazine editors can easily estimate the production of this group of aspirants by the flow of manuscripts which continue to pour in year after year, perhaps an average of ten unsolicited manuscripts in every thousand submitted find acceptance, and the other nine hundred and ninety are returned, each with a re-usable negative and a friendly smile.

War. Her book won the Doubleday, Doran Novel Contest worth $10,000. Her first novel, "The Way-Maker Annual Novel Award," at best was little more than a collection of short stories, and she paid her way to $10,000 in the contest. She is now a successful writer, and may, too, after her writing career, which has lasted for a week in Hollywood when the book was adapted to the screen. Mrs. Howard is no novice. She has written for the past ten years for ten years before she made her living at it. Which is, in fact, the best of authorship. After her marriage, she turned to her career, and wrote anything—until this book was published.

That is why the typewriter is so lacking throughout the land, and print-bought aspirants, who may look a bit thin and plucked, exhaust themselves in trying to click. "That's right," in them Hollywood "hills" for the author who can do so, but it's a rather idle, pander.

Four Escapees Back in Jail; Two Still Free

Windsor, Nov. 26 (CP)—Police pressed their search today for the remaining two of the six men who broke out of the Essex County Jail last Tuesday. The other four are back in police hands, reported last night in a short 3 1/2 miles south of Harrow.

Arrested along with the four was John Harris, negro occupant of the shack when police broke in. He was booked with them at Windsor police headquarters. Taken into custody were Harry Henderson, 21, John Baling, 30, Lawrence Burns, 32, and Jack Burns, 21. Still at large, and held at an intensive police search in southwestern Ontario, are Raymond Haggerty, 25, and Fred Tibbitt, 23.

To make the arrests, a 14-member man hunt police force including some Ontario provincial police, converged on the shack. They drove a circle around it and all at once rushed in. The door was open and the men were taken into custody. They pushed past him and entered the room. They found the four. They found the four. They found the four.

Voluntary System Of U.K. Hospitals 800 Years Old

By JAMES MCCOY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
London, Nov. 8 (CP).—For 800 years British hospitals maintained by gifts have cared for the sick and the system will not disappear without a struggle. The Labor government cabinet has approved in principle the abolition of these voluntary hospitals, and their incorporation in a state health plan. Whether this view actually will be transformed into action when new state health legislation is brought down early next year remains unclear.

Here are the opinions which must be reconciled:

1. The voluntary hospitals will retain assets in the form of buildings, equipment and inven-

ed funds of £200,000,000 (£200,000,000) have provided not only help for the sick but have become the centre of medical research and the headquarters of outstanding practitioners. The 1,000 voluntary hospitals care for 1,500,000 bed patients yearly, and their friends said their value would be lost if they are incorporated in a right state health plan.

2. A strong group of public opinion says that it is humiliating in a modern state that the sick should have to depend on charity which maintains voluntary hospitals. Labor ministers in the Churchill coalition government pressed strongly for complete state hospital service when a national health service plan was introduced.

3. About two-thirds of the total hospital beds are provided by institutions supported by the ratepayers. At present, the local authorities control these hospitals and will have to be persuaded to do so in the interest of their community to have a change made to government control.

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Kirkland Lake (CP)—Should the royal household of Britain leave Canada to take up residence in the new year, the Northern Ontario pioneer, Mrs. Roza Kirkland, has already prepared for their accommodation.

Extracts from Report — November 7th, 1945

By JULIUS WESSER, M.E.

"MINES: A great near zone 100 to 200 feet wide crosses the property diagonally in the northern, southeast direction for over 3000 feet in length. As the weather was within a few days of freeze-up it was impossible to systematically sample this zone up to such a short time, but sufficient sampling was done to show the value of this zone. The large samples were taken over a width of 100-200 feet and a length for 1500 feet and gave the following results:

Sample	Gr. Gold	Value	Sample	Gr. Gold	Value
119	.21	$19.95	120	.21	$19.95
218	.16	$14.40	219	.24	$21.60
318	3.95	$355.50	319	88	$8820.00
418	.05	$4.50	419	3.00	$270.00
518	.24	$21.60	519	.06	$5.40

"On the southeastern part of the property a vein 30 feet wide has been uncovered—constantly producing of quartz showing good mineralization of iron pyrites and some native copper. Three samples gave the following results:

Sample	Gr. Gold	Gr. Silver	Gr. Copper
Betty B. Group No. 1 A	.21	7.25	Footwall (native copper)
Betty B. Group No. 2 A	.01	35	Centre of vein
Betty B. Group No. 3 A	1.36	46.70	Hanging Wall

"CONCLUSION: In the immediate vicinity of this part of the country some very interesting and important discoveries have been made recently. The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company has completed 30,000 feet of diamond drilling on the Try Me group adjoining Betty B to southeast which points to important developments.

"Betty B. group has the right geology with great shearing and the high values obtained in sampling leads one to the belief that this property has the makings of a mine."

Financing to carry out adequate development is assured by arrangement with DORIS Yellowknife Gold Mines Limited

600 Dismissed For Incompetence

Hartford, Germany, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Lao J. Margolin, chief of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Information Bureau in Europe, said in a statement Thursday that 600 U.N.R.R.A. employees had been dismissed for incompetence in the last few months.

He said most of those dismissed were nationals of European countries.

Mr. Margolin declared he wished to correct a previous statement that all of those dismissed had been dismissed for incompetence.

A majority of those American and British had been dismissed, not removed or arrested.

On London the European office of the U.N.R.R.A. said the previous report that the dismissals were in connection with a two-month investigation into black market activities in Germany "is incorrect."

"The facts are that 600 U.N.R.R.A. employees have been removed for unsatisfactory work in the past few months," the statement said, "including personnel engaged in financial, personnel, and other work."

U.N.R.R.A. statement said this meant to have been laid off.

It said the announcement that 600 U.N.R.R.A. workers of Czech nationality had been dismissed for incompetence and that others have been dismissed.

Mr. Margolin said that during the last few months the 600 employees had been dismissed for incompetence as part of a reorganization plan introduced by Lt.-Gen. Frederick Morgan, U.N.R.R.A. director in Germany.

"The U.N.R.R.A. officials are doing everything in their power to force out any incompetence," Mr. Margolin's statement said. "The overwhelming majority of the U.N.R.R.A. workers in Germany are honest, shrewd and loyal and dedicated to the care of displaced persons who are innocent victims of war."

Jap Housewives Bear Burden Of Finding Food

By MURIEL SPENCER

Tokyo, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The signs of Japan's warlords are falling most heavily on the backs of Japanese housewives as hunger makes itself felt.

These women are to be seen with empty packs in their hands, in the evenings. They queue before the black market to augment their thin stocks or to charge near-black-market prices.

In the morning the housewife sets out. A packet of cereals, a chocolate bar acquired on the black market, a cloche or a bar of precious soap are taken along if available to barter with the farmer.

At the railroad station she battles to get inside a train, with her pack and a small child. Often she doesn't get back till 11 p.m.

There has just come from the press the semi-annual list of winter packing for the U.N.R.R.A.
